The attendance at the Chautauqua Monday was increased over that of Sunday and the interest is increasing all the time. Many out-of-town people were present, and the indications are that the attendance for the rest of the week will exceed that of any Chautauqua year. Several additional families went into camp Monday, and it is probable that quite a number will be added today and tomorrow. Everything has been done for the comfort and convenience of campers, and if it were possible to secure the tents that are in demand the number of tents would be twice the number that are now in the park.

Monday Afternoon.

The address of Thomas Brooks Fletcher, already a favorite with Maryville audiences, was perhaps the most popular of any lecture yet given. Mr. Fletcher announced early in his address that, while he would like to dig into the heart of economic propositions and deal only in fundamental truths, he could not disregard the popular demand for entertainment. He therefore proposed to give his hearers an "intellectual weinerwurst." It would have some thick places and some thin ones.

His subject was "The Tragedy of the Unprepared." The tragedy of the unprepared is a matter of daily sorrow and disappointment. The failure of the man or boy who is unprepared for the great emergencies of life. Preparedness comes not often from spontaneous genius but from hard study, hard work and determined effort. The man or woman who is prepared to welcome opportunity when it comes to their doors is the one crowned with success in life.

The world is full of the sorrow of unpreparedness. The young man who had a coveted position open to him and was not prepared to hold it, the man who could see a profitable investment but had wasted his money and could not take advantage of it, the lawyer who had neglected to look up an essential law point and lost a case upon which his reputation hinged, the doctor or surgeon who made the awful mistake in a critical case, and so on through the lifts of business and professional life.

Life is full of tragedy, too, that exists only in the mind. People suffer from imaginary ills, they nurse anger and resentment over imaginary grievances, a lady with a husband so ugly that no other woman would look at him imagines they all want to take him away from her and she gets jealous and turns a peaceful home into a continual hades and numerous other instances of a serious and humorous nature were cited.

As an example of the man who was prepared mentally, morally and physically, he gave a vivid description of the great Chicago convention and the great speech that made William J. Bryan a presidential nominee. He paid a warm tribute to Mr. Bryan's purity of thought, great ability and correctness of character. He had been tested in the crucible and measured up to the highest standard. Every young man was warned that when an aspiring young man came into prominence the great trusts would have detectives turn the searchlight on his whole life and see if there was a fatal flaw in it. Whether Mr. Bryan was ever elected president or not, he said, was not material. The political and social welfare had advanced twenty-five years because of his career.

Then he explained that he was not a Democrat, and cited Col. Roosevelt as another man who was prepared when the great crisis of ascending from the vice presidency to the first place in the land was thrust upon him. The lecture abounded in good humor, keen wit and hard sense.

Monday Evening.

"An Evening of Song and Story," given Monday night by Mr. J. H. Balmer's wonderful Kaffir singing boys, was very largely attended, and whatever in the way of music that is to follow during this Chautauqua, nothing will be more popular, we venture to say, than the Kaffir boys, because of the unique entertainment they give and the instruction that accompanies it. There is a weirdness accompanying their exquisite music that seems to stay with you, and there is inspiration, too, in the music of these African boys that will serve to help many of us, who are rather boastful of our Christian civilization, to better ways of thought, speech and action.

Their interpretation of songs we are familiar with are splendid, and if we studied the meanings of words in our language as truly and faithfully as they, and used the knowledge we gained of them, we would be so busy there would be no time for idle, worthless talk.

They gave some Kaffir songs Monday night, and the eldest boy delivered a speech to the others, such as is given by the chiefs of the tribes to stir them to war with other tribes. It was an interesting sight to see and hear them respond, for the Kaffirs are emotional and there is as much to see as there is to hear in all they do when

LITTLE LELAND PALMER KICKED BY A HORSE.

IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

Returning Home When Horse Became Frightened—His Mother Was Also Hurt.

A bad accident occurred Tuesday morning about 7:30 o'clock at the farm of James Palmer, who lives nine miles northeast of Maryville. Mrs. Palmer and her three boys, Leland, Vern and Frank, were returning from the field, where the threshing was being carried on, and where they had gone to take Mr. Palmer to his work, when the harness to the buggy broke and frightened the horse.

The horse began kicking and kicked Mrs. Palmer just below one knee and badly crippled her. Another kick from the horse fractured the skull of the oldest child, Leland, who is only 4 years old. The other children were unhurt.

Dr. J. H. Todd and the Drs. Wallis were summoned. After attending to Mrs. Palmer's injuries they brought the little boy to St. Francis hospital in the Wallis car, where he was operated on. The child is in a very critical condition.

"Eph" Andrews, a son of Mr. and E. L. Andrews, and "Jack" Evans, a son of Ex-Sheriff George L. Evans, left Maryville at 10:30 o'clock Monday night on their proposed walking trip to San Francisco by the way of St. Joseph and Kansas City. They appeared at the Fern theater Monday evening and delivered short addresses on their proposed trip.

On Tuesday no word had been received by E. L. Andrews as to how far the boys had walked during the night.

RASCO CASE IS ON THE OCTOBER DOCKET

Attorney Ellis G. Cook, one of the attorneys for Hez Rasco, received word Tuesday from Assistant Attorney General Atkinson at Jefferson City that the Rasco case has been docketed for the October term of the supreme court. The attorneys for Rasco have been working very hard within the last few weeks, as the brief of their side of the case has to be ready by September 1.

Since the Rasco case is docketed for the October term, it is expected that the supreme court will not give a decision much before the first of the year.

CHARGED WITH ABANDONING HIS WIFE

Jess Holtclaw was arrested at Ravenwood Monday and was brought to Maryville by Sheriff Tilson and locked in the county jail on a charge of wife abandonment. No information was sworn out by Prosecutor Wright, as he has no jurisdiction, as Holtclaw abandoned his wife in St. Joseph. Mrs. Holtclaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Slagle of Ravenwood, went to St. Joseph Tuesday to see the county prosecutor of that county in regard to swearing out an information against Holtclaw.

Rev. C. H. Sauceman, pastor of the M. E. church in Skidmore, and Rev. J. H. Thompson, pastor of the M. E. church in Barnard, are both in Maryville this week attending the Chautauqua lectures. Both report prosperity in their respective charges.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Sayler and little son and daughter and Mrs. Mary Wray of Hopkins came to Maryville Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Sayler are Chautauqua guests of his father, Judge J. H. Sayler, and family. Mrs. Mary Wray will remain until Tuesday evening the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Wray.

FOR FAST DRIVING

AUTOISTS WHO EXCEEDED SPEED LIMITS IN TOILS.

WILL ENFORCE ORDINANCE

"Jay Driving" to Be made a Dangerous Pastime—Many Complaints Have Been Made.

As the result of some very reckless and fast driving Sunday evening by autoists in coming from the Chautauqua grounds, Harry Aldrich and Harold Staples were arrested Monday and appeared before City Police Judge W. L. Johnson Tuesday. Both Aldrich and Staples pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs, which was paid. Donald Robey, who was running O. K. Herndon's machine without lights, also appeared before Police Judge Johnson and was fined $5 and costs.

The city authorities are to be more strict hereafter in regard to the autoists exceeding the speed limit, and also as to "jay driving." A new ordinance is to be drawn soon by City Attorney Blagg and will probably come up at the council meeting either Friday night or at the first meeting night in September. The ordinance, it is said, is to be very strict on the autoists.

The action of the city authorities is taken at this time on account of the many complaints being made by the people of Maryville. There are only a few that seem to disregard the speed ordinance in the city, and it is thought that they will be more careful hereafter after being fined once.

Lyle Family Reunion.

August 13th, 1911, was the day of the annual reunion of the family of Hugh Lyle, who came to Nodaway county, Missouri, in the year 1849. He was a native of Ireland. He was born in Londonderry county, November 11, 1827, where he grew to manhood. In the year 1849 he was united in marriage to Nancy Hutchison of Macrefelt, Ireland. Shortly after their marriage they embarked to America, not having the steamship then as now, they made the voyage in a sailing vessel, and after seven weeks of rough sailing and some very trying circumstances, they landed in New York. On reaching America Mr. Lyle found employment very scarce, and after looking around for some time in search of employment he settled in Catasanqua, Pa., where he secured a position as furnace man in one of the large iron factories of that city, where he worked for three years, and in the year 1852, he, with his family, moved to Adams county, Illinois, where he engaged in farming and stock raising, where he lived until the year 1869, when he and his family came to Nodaway county, Missouri, where he bought a large tract of land, five miles east of Graham, which at that time consisted of only a few small houses. Their first summer in Missouri they lived in a tent until the completion of their beautiful home, which stood on a hill and could be seen for miles around, and was looked upon as one of the few beautiful homes of those days. Here he lived with his family of seven sons and one daughter until the death of his wife, in October, 1889. After breaking up his home he went to Washington, D. C., to live, where, in 1893, he was again married to Mrs. A. J. Rowland of that city, spending their winters in the east and their summers visiting his children in Missouri, and it was with the beginning of these visits that the family reunions were held each year. And as he and his wife have passed on to their reward, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, of which there are eighty-one, meet once a year for their family reunion, which was held August 13th, at the old home place, now the home of a grandson, Samuel Lyle. A beautiful dinner was spread on the lawn and the day was spent in talking over pleasant memories of the old home and its many changes, after which some fine piano selections were listened to until late in the evening, when ice cream and cake were served, and bidding the host and hostess goodby, all returned to their homes with pleasant memories of the dear old home of their childhood. A photographer was on the ground and took several pictures of the group, which numbered sixty-six. Some of the grandchildren and also Robert Lyle's family were unable to be present. Those present were James Lyle and wife and daughter, Bessie; Humphrey Lyle and wife and son, Chester; Rankin Lyle and wife, Hutchison Lyle and wife and sons, Lloyd, Byers and Clifford; Alexander Lyle and wife and sons, Harold and William; Samuel Lyle and wife and son, Hugh, J.; William Miller and wife and daughters, Mary, Lotis and Lolita, and son, Vermile; Charles Carter and wife, Eugene Crawford and wife and sons, Lucine and Pearl, and daughter, Mary Amelia; Joseph Thompson and wife and daughters, Hazel and Marie, and son, John; Clarence Lyle and wife and son, William J.; Fred Lyle and wife and son, Richard; Frank Lyle and wife and son, Dale, and daughter Beulah; Fred Ayger and wife and daughter, Alice Marie; Joseph Robertson and wife and daughter, Thelma Fern; Otis Lyle and wife and son, Marvin; Otis McNeal and wife, Oren Miller and wife and sons, Elmer and William; Florence and Edna Robertson.

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH

Was a Well-to-Do and Respected Farmer—Funeral Was Held Tuesday Afternoon.

Phillip Weller, a highly respected farmer, living three and a half miles southwest of Maitland, committed suicide Sunday morning about 6:30 o'clock by shooting himself with a revolver. The bullet entered back of the right ear and he died instantly.

Mr. Weller had been in ill health for several months and no cause can be given for his rash deed except on account of his health. He was a well-to-do farmer.

About 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning Mr. Weller went out to the barn and did his chores and returned to the house a short time after. He went to his room and the report of the gun was heard by his daughter, who went to him at once.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the Weller home and burial took place in the Maitland cemetery. He is survived by six children. He also leaves a brother, President Weller of one of the Maitland banks.

POLITICAL NOTES.

(By Democratic Publicity Bureau.)

Ten big Republican counties cast a majority of 4,500 votes against rebuilding Missouri's capitol, while ten big Democratic counties cast a majority of 25,000 for rebuilding the capitol. It was ever thus.

Woodrow Wilson has declared that the greatest of the trusts is the money trust. We fear that Woodrow is correct. It is entirely evident that a plan is forming if it is not already fully formed, by which, if it is successful, a half dozen men will absolutely control the credit of this country. They will say what enterprises shall be financed and what shall be crushed. These men arrogate to themselves infallibility of judgment and assume the right to dictate to the business of the country. The only thing that stands between the successful consummation of the money trust is the probable election of a Democratic president next year.

The Democratic house has given the country a sample of what may be expected of a Democratic administration. Its achievements include a complete reformation of the house rules, Canadian reciprocity agreement, publicity of campaign funds before the election, election of United States senators by direct vote, the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as states, the farmers' free list bill, the wool bill reducing the advaiorem on manufactured woolens from 90 to 42½ per cent, the cotton bill materially reducing the tax on all manufactured cotton goods. In addition to this the house has twelve probing committees at work unearthing the rascality of the departments under the Republican administration. Verily the session drawing to a close has been a Democratic triumph from beginning to end.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AT KENOSHA, WIS.

The following is from the Chicago Tribune:

The annual report of the Kenosha municipal water plant was filed with the city clerk yesterday. It shows a net profit to the city during the last twelve months of nearly $35,000.

The city has furnished water at a lower rate than is paid in any city as large as Kenosha in Wisconsin.

The plant was built in 1894 at a first cost of $137,000 and since that time extensions to the value of $16,150 have been made.

The money received from rentals has paid for all the extensions and during the last year the entire bonded indebtedness was paid off. The report shows a cash balance at this time of more than $35,000. The value of the plant is now placed at $360,000 and it will earn interest at 6 per cent on more than a million and a half.

in earnest. They also gave a short scene from a marriage ceremony that takes forty-eight hours to perform in that country.

"Swinging in the Grapevine Swing," a solo by the oldest boy, with chorus, was very popular. All the numbers were fine and their voices blend so sweetly that it is impossible to select their best piece.

The Hottentot, the little light colored boy that sings soprano, is the favorite. Every note he sounds is sweet, clear and liquid as a bird's. Monday night he sang high C with no more effort than a bird uses. The expression of his face changes with the sentiment of the song, from grave to gay, as sunlight and shadows come and go.

Mr. Balmer studied voice with the teacher of Jennie Lind, and the secret of his method lies in his knowledge of the throat and respiratory organs and the proper use of them. Jennie Lind's teacher could neither sing nor play a note.

The boys are born actors and the critics of London say they never saw the greatest actors make their entrance and exits with such grace as do these Kaffir boys. The soprano boy is wanted by artists in the Royal Gallery of London as subject for a great picture, because of his marvelous smile. There is no use trying to tell about the singing of these boys. It must be heard to be appreciated and understood. They will go to Red Oak, Ia., Wednesday.

On Tuesday morning Prof. Cameron's class in nature study met at 9:30 o'clock. At 11 o'clock a band concert was given by the Maryville band, which was enjoyed by the large crowd present.

One of the biggest crowds that has attended the Chautauqua so far was in attendance Tuesday afternoon to hear Ex-Governor Hanley of Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Allen went to St. Joseph Wednesday morning on business.

Miss Mary Westfall of Barnard attended the Chautauqua Monday and was the guest of her uncle, Henry Westfall, and family.

Miss Leona Badger of Barnard is spending Chautauqua week in Maryville.

Miss Alicia Keeler went to Topeka, Kan., Tuesday morning for a two days' visit with friends.

W. E. Goforth went to Kansas City Tuesday morning for a two days' business visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Slagle of Ravenwood were city visitors Tuesday.

...VED ELEVEN DAYS WITH HIS HEART CUT.

Autopsy Reveals Surprising Case of Victim of Stab Wound.

An autopsy on the body of Peter Paulsen, thirty years old, of New York, who, after a fight in which he received a deep gash in his breast, was removed to St. Vincent's hospital in an unconscious condition and who died in the hospital, revealed the astounding fact that the man had lived for eleven days with a knife wound in his heart fully an inch and a half deep.

Paulsen was a Dane of great physical strength. The wound was so large that Dr. E. S. Cockel of the hospital staff had great difficulty in checking the flow of blood. Gauze was finally shoved into the wound against the heart wall. This tended to check the flow. The outer wound, however, healed so rapidly that it had to be reopened several times to insert fresh gauze. In the meantime quantities of morphine were administered.

The patient did not begin to suffer until the last ten hours of his life, when, notwithstanding the greatest possible caution, blood poisoning set in. It was known that the wound was deep, but it was not surmised that the knife had entered the heart until physicians performed the autopsy.

DIED FOR A CAT.

Artist Rushed Into the Flames to Try to Save Her Pet.

Returning to a burning structure to try to rescue an Angora cat and three kittens, Miss Louise B. Frederici, thirty years old, an artist, lost her life in a fire which destroyed three houses in Los Angeles. The young woman was caught beneath a falling roof and incinerated. Another pet cat was responsible for saving eleven lives.

Mrs. Nellie S. Drane had lighted the heater in the kitchen. She returned to bed and fell asleep. She was awakened some time later by the actions of a pet cat, which had discovered the flames. The cat ran to her room and started to claw the clothing from her bed. This awakened Mrs. Drane, who, smelling smoke, rushed into the kitchen to find the rear of her home ablaze. She gave the alarm, and the other eleven occupants of the house, including Miss Frederici, barely escaped from the burning structure.

Miss Frederici after gaining the street remembered that her pet cat, which was nursing three kittens in a basket in her bedchamber, had been overlooked. Ignoring the protests of her friends, she dashed back through the smoke and flames. She had no sooner disappeared into the doomed structure than spectators were horrified to see the roof give way and crash to the first floor.

UNIQUE IDEA.

Pennsylvania Mine Code to Be Printed In Nine Languages.

A unique order for printing has just been given to the Pennsylvania state printer by A. Nevin Pomeroy, state superintendent of public printing, and it illustrates the diversity of population of Pennsylvania's mining regions.

In order that miners in every section of the great bituminous coal fields of the state may be made familiar with the provisions of the "soft coal code" passed by the recent legislature arrangement was made for the issuance of 100,000 copies of the act soon after it was approved.

When it came to looking up the manner of diffusing the information the state officials were confronted with the problem of reaching people speaking in the neighborhood of ten different tongues. A careful study of the conditions was made, and it was finally decided that the 100,000 copies should be divided between nine languages, the greater number being in English. The others will be Slavonian, Russian, Polish, Hungarian, German, Lithuanian, Swedish and Italian. Some of these languages will require additional type at the state printery.

NEW GUN.

War Department Has One Meant to Bring Down Aviators.

War department officials attached to the Watervleit, N. Y. arsenal have invented a gun they hope will eliminate the aeroplane as a great source of danger in war. The new weapon which has an instantaneously acting sight, will shoot projectiles which in turn will break and scatter more, much after the manner of a bursting sky rocket. The space covered by the scattering projectiles from the new gun, however, will be far greater than that marked by the shooting points of light from a rocket.

The gun is entirely the work of the bureau of ordnance of the war department and is based on a series of secrets which, experts say, will prevent imitation of the weapon by any European nation. It is expected experiments will be held in the near future on Sandy Hook, when the inventors hope to prove that a moving aeroplane will be an easy target for the bullets from the new gun.

TO WIDELY ADVERTISE MISSOURI'S RESOURCES

In keeping with the "good roads movement," which now has possession of Missouri, is a plan of the bureau of labor statistics to widely advertise the wonderful resources, advantages and opportunities offered, separately, by each of the 114 counties of the state, to induce sturdy, thrifty and willing agricultural settlers and others, with or without means, now living elsewhere, but not prospering, to emigrate here.

Commissioner Austin W. Biggs, who is working in conjunction with the federal authority in the matter, in a bulletin issued today, announces that all information on the subject which has been gathered, will be set forth in pamphlet form before the close of the year. The bulletin says in part:

"In round numbers there are about 43,000,000 acres of land in Missouri, suitable for cultivation and grazing purposes. Of this amount 34,516,000 acres make up the 276,081 farms the state contained at the commencement of 1911, and of which 24,528,000 acres were improved. The Missouri farm averages 125 acres. The average price of land alone is $41.75 per acre, and of lands and buildings $49.56. But these figures do not apply to lands not taken up. They simply mean that tracts now unoccupied and purchasable for from $10 to $30 per acre will quickly reach that average value after improvement and the moment the new farm is ready for cultivation.

8,500,000 Acres Still.

"It is estimated that there are available for settlement in Missouri 8,500,000 acres suitable for cultivation or for grazing purposes in raising and fattening cattle, sheep and goats. In these latter calculations are included the rich swamp lands of southeast and other portions of Missouri, and the areas now subject to overflow, amounting to about 3,500,000 acres—all lands which can be easily and cheaply drained and protected by levees. This is thus planted, without considering what additional revenue could be derived if watermelons were added, or if the acreage was put into vegetables. Some of this land, now entirely unimproved, can be bought for $10 an acre and up, according to location and other features.

"North of the Missouri river good improved land can be purchased on easy terms for from $40 to $65, all highly fertile and good for wheat, corn, oats, blue grass and other high class staples. No other state has better lands than these, considering their richness, climatic conditions and proximity to large demanding and well paying markets, such as St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Kansas City and other smaller places.

Timber Would Pay Cost.

"In South Missouri improved lands can be acquired for from $20 to $50 per acre and unimproved for from $5 to $25. The latter tracts are generally covered with timber, which would nearly pay for them and the clearing, if cut and hauled to market. Oak, which is suitable for lumber and ties, abounds, and there is some yellow pine, with other species of trees here and there.

"Some tracts of the improved land, a small house, all agricultural implements, seed, etc., can be rented on the usual terms, generally half of the yield of everything going to the owner. In other sections the exactments for rent differ, being either more or less, according to the location of the farm and its annual productiveness.

"About 200,000 forty-acre farms could be easily cut out of the unimproved lands which are still available in Missouri, and yet leave 500,000 acres. If this was done there would still be the 10,000,000 acres, now unimproved, but forming parts of Missouri's present 276,081 farms, all of which is being used for grazing purposes. There are now in the state 66,417 farms with less than fifty acres each, all on a paying basis, yet very few, if any, of this vast number being conducted on either an intense scale or by scientific methods. Then there are 74,000 farms ranging in size from fifty to ninety-nine acres; 79,871 farms, 100 to 174 acres; 51,829 farms, 175 to 499 acres; 3,421 farms, 500 to 999 acres, and 542 farms with 1,000 acres each and over. There is but little land left in Missouri for homestead or cash entry.

W. J. BRYAN WILL NOT REMAIN SILENT

Columbus, O., Aug. 14.—"I intend to devote all my time between now and the nomination to finding out things about the candidates for the Democratic nomination for president," said William J. Bryan to a large audience here today. "I know all of the leading men of the party, those who have hindered and those who have helped it. When the time comes to name the man for candidate, I will not be silent.

"I am not going to mention individuals now," said Mr. Bryan. "The country has man available men. Recently I mentioned some of the men I believe to be good as political candidates, and I am glad Democracy is so fortunate as to have so many."

Mr. Bryan was the guest of the Jefferson club at a big rally and barbecue. Governor Harmon had been invited, but he sent word weeks ago that he would be at his summer home in Michigan on a vacation. Mr. Bryan refrained from mentioning the governor in any of his interviews or in his speech. It was recalled that the men whom Mr. Bryan mentioned some time ago did not include Governor Harmon.

"I intend to devote my time to driving plutocracy from the throne and putting the rights of men in the seat," continued Mr. Bryan. "I have not a friend in the United States whom I would reward at the expense of my party or my country."

POPE CONTINUTES TO IMPROVE SLOWLY

Pontiff Able to Sit Up and Discusses Church Questions.

Rome, Aug. 15.—Pope Pius continues to improve slowly. The pontiff sat up again and Dr. Petacci and Dr. Marchefa suggested that he remain longer in his arm chair, as they thought this position helped to restore his strength.

After seeing Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, and Monsignor Bisleti, major domo of the vatican, the pope asked for Cardinal De Lai, secretary of the consistorial congregation, with whom he wished to discuss several questions relating to the church in America.

MAY PUNISH LYNCHERS

Great Indignation at Coatesville Over Burning of Negro.

Coatsville, Pa., Aug. 15.—The fearful work of a frenzied mob here, when it dragged a wounded negro from a hospital and burned him to death for the killing of Edgar Rice, a police man, has aroused the greatest indignation in this community and every thing possible will be done to bring to justice the ringleaders of the mob. That such an affair could occur in a Quaker community like that in Chester county was not believed possible.

Thousands of persons journeyed out to the scene of the burning. The distance to the Newland farm, where the lynching occurred, is short, and a steady stream of curious people kept moving out to the scene.

Nothing is left of Ezekiel Walker, the victim, but his ashes, all unburned portions of the hospital cot that formed part of his pyre had been gathered up by souvenir hunters.

LIMITS WEDDING FINERY

Miss Force Will Practice Economy Buying Her Trousseau.

New York, Aug. 15.—It became the opinion of some Fifth avenue modistes that Miss Madeline Force, the young fiancee of Colonel John Jacob Astor, is to be very economical in the arrangement of her wedding trousseau. It was learned on the avenue that she and Colonel Astor drove in a taxicab to five shops where the young woman made it plain that $1,000 would be the limit of expenditure for her wedding finery.

In contrast to the $20,000 which a recent society girl is said to have spent on her trousseau, including $2,500 for a single gown, it was said that Miss Force objected to a $250 creation which one modiste showed her and found one at a shop further on which pleased her just as well for $100.

WORKMAN FINDS $10,000 TRUNK

Missing Receptacle of Jewelry Found at Nebraska City.

DUMPED ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Thief Evidently Frightened and Did Not Come Back—Indications It Has Not Been Opened—Detectives Seal It and Send It to Omaha.

Nebraska City, Aug. 15.—The trunk filled with jewelry worth $10,000, property of A. F. Smith company of Omaha, which was checked from Omaha to Nebraska City, July 31, by Will Kortland, the company's salesman, and which seemed to have disappeared completely, was found here. Ever since the night of its delivery here it has lain in the open on the new high school grounds, where it was discovered and examined by a workman whose curiosity was aroused by noticing a baggage check upon it.

The trunk was sealed and sent to Omaha. Indications are it has not been opened.

Monday, July 31, Will Kortland, traveling salesman for the wholesale jewelry firm of A. F. Smith company of Omaha, checked two valuable trunks filled with jewelry from that place to this city and when he called for the trunks at the depot one containing jewelry valued at $10,000 was missing.

He waited here several days and the case was given to the officers, but they could not trace the trunk out of Omaha.

Fred Brooks, an electrician working about the new high school building, noticed a big trunk near his pile of material and while waiting for something examined it, although he had noticed it there for weeks, but thought it belonged to the contractors. He noticed the check still on it and called up the agent for the railroad, giving the number, and was told it was the missing trunk.

It was taken in charge by two Pinkerton men who were here working on the case.

The trunk does not show that it has been opened and the ground where it lay shows it was thrown off a wagon and laid just out of the path used by the workmen, but in plain view of all since it was brought here.

That it was stolen from the depot is clearly evident and it is thought the thieves became frightened and left it where they dumped it.

The trunk was within a block of the hotel where Kortland stayed and where a large force of men employed on the high school passed it every day.

ROW AMONG SOCIALISTS

J. Mahlon Barnes, Secretary of the National Party, Resigns.

Milwaukee, Aug. 15.—J. Mahlon Barnes, secretary of the national Socialist party, has resigned. It is said the resignation will be accepted.

Angry words, denunciations and brandishing fists marked the close of the forenoon session of the Socialist conference at Brisbane hall, when Senator Gaylord of Milwaukee and G. W. Boswell, a Socialist alderman of Maplewood, Mo., accused Gaylord and Congressman Berger of disrupting the party in Missouri. Senator Gaylord has been giving a series of lectures in St. Louis.

"I have your record," retorted Gaylord. "I am not going to have you arrested or serve an injunction on you, but I have your record."

Boswell said it was poor politics and poor judgment to start afresh the argument at this time inasmuch as the next national convention was but a year away.

M'CABE PLACES RESTRICTION

Ordered Chemists Not to Talk With District Attorneys.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Restrictions placed on officials of the bureau of chemistry by Solicitor McCabe on their talking with United States district attorneys has greatly hampered work in district laboratories, where attorneys prosecuting pure food cases often seek expert advice, according to Dr. W. D. Bigelow, assistant chief of the bureau, who again appeared as a witness before the house committee investigating charges against Dr. Wiley.

Dr. Bigelow said Mr. McCabe had made it clear that bureau officials were not to talk with district attorneys without his express consent.

Missouri State Fair.

The eleventh annual exhibition of the Missouri state fail will be held on the state fair grounds at Sedalia, September 30 to October 6. The members of the state board of agriculture are the directors of the state fair, and they have made an extra effort this year to surpass all former years in the way of exhibits and entertainment.

The live stock industry of Missouri has made a wonderful growth since the state fair was established. The reports from the 1910 United States census show that the value of horses and colts in 1900 was $42,095,000, while in 1910 the value was $113,708,000, showing an increase of over 170 per cent. For mules in 1900, $15,482,000 and in 1910, $43,363,000, showing an increase in value of 180 per cent. The value of swine in 1900 was $3,351,000 and in 1910, $31,879,000. The value of sheep in Missouri in 1900 was $3,351,000, and in 1910, $7,875,000, showing an increase of over 135 per cent.

A reasonable supposition is that the Missouri state fair has had much influence in the development of the live stock industry during the last ten years, for it is at the state fair where the best herds in the country are shown, and it is there the farmer and breeder gets his inspiration to breed better live stock. The state fair is an educational institution that reaches people who are past school age as well as the young folks.

MILD, GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN GIVEN FREE

So many of the ills of women are due to habitual constipation, probably because of their false modesty on the subject, that their attention cannot be too strongly called to the importance of keeping the bowels open. It is always important to do that, regardless of the sex, but it is especially important in women.

From the time the girl begins to menstruate until mentsruation ceases she has always vastly better prospects of coming through healthy if she watches her bowel movements. If you find yourself constipated, with bad breath, pimply complexion, headaches, belching gas and other symptoms of indigestion and constipation, take a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is woman's favorite laxative. You will find that you can do away with salts, strong cathartics, etc., which are entirely unsuited to woman's requirements.

Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh of McKees Rocks, Pa., and Mrs. A. E. Herrick of Wheeler, Mich., who was almost paralyzed in her stomach and bowels, are now cured by the use of this remedy. A free sample bottle can be obtained by addressing Dr. Caldwell, and after you are convinced of its merits buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

ATWOOD FLIES TO CHICAGO

Aviator Makes Dramatic Entrance Into Big City.

FROM ST. LOUIS TO NEW YORK

Travels 286 Miles in Actual Flying Time of Five Hours, Forty-Three Minutes in First Leg of Big Air Trip—Hopes to Break Record.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—By flying the 286 miles from St. Louis to Chicago with only two intermediate stops and in an actual flying time of five hours and forty-three minutes, Harry N. Atwood of Boston believes he has set a pace which will result in his establishing a new record on his flight by aeroplane from St. Louis to New York and Boston.

Atwood, in a Burgess-Wright biplane, left St. Louis at 8:05 o'clock. He landed in Chicago at 6:10 o'clock. His total time between St. Louis and Chicago, counting the delays occasioned by the two stops, was ten hours and fourteen minutes, but his actual time in the air, computed by deducting the delays, was five hours and forty-three minutes. This, Atwood asserts, is three hours and twelve minutes less than the scheduled time of express trains for the same distance.

His descent into Chicago was thrilling. Sailing in from the southwest, a lone spec in the clouds, he made direct for the downtown district, and for a time hovered unnoticed in the distance over the skyscrapers.

Thousands of people were crowded at the lake front intent upon the flights of the aeroplanes competing in the aviation contests. Atwood appeared on the scene as a stranger, unheralded and expected only by a few.

Suddenly the crowd noticed the oncoming stranger and a voice shouted "that's Atwood from St. Louis."

Immediately the vast assembly was in an uproar. Two airmen sailed out to meet Atwood.

Coming steadily onward the aviator steered over the aviation field and circled around it while several of the machines listed in the meet followed as an escort. Once around Atwood descended gracefully, touching the ground for the first time since his stop at Pontiac, Ill., ninety-one miles from Chicago.

Originally setting ten days as the minimum time for completing the 1,460 miles to Boston, Atwood believes by the pace he set he will be able to materially reduce that estimate.

Atwood resumed his journey eastward today, taking a course along the Lake Shore railroad.

BIRDMEN FLIRT WITH DEATH

Two Aeroplanes Lost in Lake Michigan and Another Burned.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—A series of accidents, any of which might have easily proven fatal, kept the audience at the third day of the international aviation meet here on tiptoe of excitement all the afternoon. Two machines swooped into Lake Michigan, whence their drivers, Rene Simon and Lee Hammond, were rescued by motorboats, calm and collected, but mourning the loss of their machines.

J. A. D. McCurdy, flying near the ground, approached too near the club house of the Chicago Yacht club. The planes of his car struck a number of high voltage electric wires running to the club house and in a minute the canvas and oil-covered wood of the planes were on fire. McCurdy leaped out and reached the ground uninjured. The plane fell a few feet farther, but too late for the fire to be extinguished and the aeroplane was consumed.

HOUSE PASSES WOOL REPORT

All Democrats and 29 Republicans Vote for It.

SENATE WILL ACT AT ONCE.

President Taft Probably Will Refuse to Approve Measure—Speaker Clark Overrules Mann's Point of Order That Conferees Exceeded Authority.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The conference report on the wool tariff revision bill carrying a flat duty of 29 per cent on raw wools and corresponding reduced rates on wool manufacturers was adopted by the house, 206 to 90. The senate is expected to agree to it today, thus putting the measure up to the president's expected veto.

Twenty-nine Republican representatives and one independent Republican voted for the bill. No Democrat voted against it.

The house action was officially reported to the senate immediately.

When the report was made Republican Leader Mann at once made a point of order that the report could not be considered because the conferees had exceeded their authority by fixing tariff rates on certain manufactures of wool higher than the same rates were made in either the house or senate bill.

Speaker Clark overruled Mr. Mann's point of order that the conferees had exceeded their authority.

Democratic Leader Underwood of the house, in expressing the opinion that final adjournment will not come before next week, said that he does not expect congress to stay after the pending bills have been disposed of "unless the senate determines to stay and act on the cotton bill." That bill, which makes an average cut of 21 per cent in cotton duties, was debated without action in the senate. It already has passed the house.

SENATE PASSES MONEY BILL

It Also Begins Debate of the Cotton Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 15.—A bill providing for the final report and dissolution of the national monetary commission by Jan. 8 next, was passed by the senate, 56 to 6.

A discussion of the cotton tariff bill began in the senate. Senator Cummins advocated amending the bill by providing for revision of the iron and steel tariff schedules. The reduction in duties on metal products called for in his amendment are the same as those he offered two years ago to the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

When Senator Fletcher of Florida had read into the record an editorial attacking the protective policy, Senator Smith of Michigan called attention to a letter from a North Carolina cotton manufacturer, who declared there would have been no cotton mills in the south had it not been for protection.

VETO MESSAGE IS POSTPONED

Statehood Bill Will Not Be Returned to Congress Until Wednesday.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Taft's veto message on the statehood bill will be sent to congress tomorrow. A decision to this effect was reached during a special cabinet meeting. The message probably will remain at the White House until the president's return from Ocean Grove, N. J., tomorrow.

President Taft has refused to grant further executive clemency to Raymond P. May, former business manager of a Kansas City newspaper who was convicted of using the mails to defraud in the sale of mining stock.

The president recently commuted May's original sentence of one year to six months. The president also denied clemency to S. H. Snider, who was convicted with May in the same case and was sentenced to one year.

Wealthy Iowan Drops From Sight.

Harlan, Ia., Aug. 15.—Frank Hann, a wealthy farmer and stock raiser of Douglas township, mysteriously disappeared while riding to his home five miles north of this city in an automobile. His son was driving the car, his wife was in the front seat and he was in the back seat alone. They left Harlan after chautauqua and when they reached the Pickard hill, three miles north of here, Mrs. Hann turned around to speak to her husband and he was not there at all. The car had not been stopped and they could not imagine where he had gone to. A number of neighbors searched the road with no avail.

Sleeping Girl Steps Off Moving Train.

Norfolk, Neb., Aug. 15.—Miss Meta Wiedman, aged twenty years, went to sleep on an incoming Union Pacific passenger train and walking through the coach leaped from the car while the train was entering Norfolk. Her unconscious form was found in the darkness. She is severely cut and bruised and her wrist is broken.

Mountain Slide Threatens Town.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 15.—The fissures on Turtle mountain are widening, and should mining continue on the mountain they will endanger the lives of the people in the town of Frank, situated at the foot.

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, TUESDAY, AUG. 15, 1911. NO. 62.

DRAWS BIG CROWD

AFTERNOON AND EVENING PROGRAMS MONDAY A SUCCESS.

THE FLETCHER LECTURE

"An Evening of Song and Story" by the Kaffir Singing Boys Very Much Enjoyed.

This Evening's Program.

7:45—Orphean Quartet.
8:30—John B. Ratto, entertainer.

Wednesday's Program.

Morning.
9:30—Prof. Cameron.
11:00—Lecture recital, "The Opera." In this lecture will be told the stories of the operas to be given at night. Mr. Landon
Afternoon.
2:00—Concert, Hinshaw Grand Opera company.
2:45—Address, Dr. Gabriel R. Maguire.
Evening.
8:00—Scenes from grand opera in costume.

The attendance at the Chautauqua Monday was increased over that of Sunday and the interest is increasing all the time. Many out-of-town people were present, and the indications are that the attendance for the rest of the week will exceed that of any Chautauqua year. Several additional families went into camp Monday, and it is probable that quite a number will be added today and tomorrow. Everything has been done for the comfort and convenience of campers, and if it were possible to secure the tents that are in demand the number of tents would be twice the number that are now in the park.

Monday Afternoon.

The address of Thomas Brooks Fletcher, already a favorite with Maryville audiences, was perhaps the most popular of any lecture yet given. Mr. Fletcher announced early in his address that, while he would like to dig into the heart of economic propositions and deal only in fundamental truths, he could not disregard the popular demand for entertainment. He therefore proposed to give his hearers an "intellectual weinerwurst." It would have some thick places and some thin ones.

His subject was "The Tragedy of the Unprepared." The tragedy of the unprepared is a matter of daily sorrow and disappointment. The failure of the man or boy who is unprepared for the great emergencies of life. Preparedness comes not often from spontaneous genius but from hard study, hard work and determined effort. The man or woman who is prepared to welcome opportunity when it comes to their doors is the one crowned with success in life.

The world is full of the sorrow of unpreparedness. The young man who had a coveted position open to him and was not prepared to hold it, the man who could see a profitable investment but had wasted his money and could not take advantage of it, the lawyer who had neglected to look up an essential law point and lost a case upon which his reputation hinged, the doctor or surgeon who made the awful mistake in a critical case, and so on through the lifts of business and professional life.

Life is full of tragedy, too, that exists only in the mind. People suffer from imaginary ills, they nurse anger and resentment over imaginary grievances, a lady with a husband so ugly that no other woman would look at him imagines they all want to take him away from her and she gets jealous and turns a peaceful home into a continual hades and numerous other instances of a serious and humorous nature were cited.

As an example of the man who was prepared mentally, morally and physically, he gave a vivid description of the great Chicago convention and the great speech that made William J. Bryan a presidential nominee. He paid a warm tribute to Mr. Bryan's purity of thought, great ability and correctness of character. He had been tested in the crucible and measured up to the highest standard. Every young man was warned that when an aspiring young man came into prominence the great trusts would have detectives turn the searchlight on his whole life and see if there was a fatal flaw in it. Whether Mr. Bryan was ever elected president or not, he said, was not material. The political and social welfare had advanced twenty-five years because of his career.

Then he explained that he was not a Democrat, and cited Col. Roosevelt as another man who was prepared when the great crisis of ascending from the vice presidency to the first place in the land was thrust upon him. The lecture abounded in good humor, keen wit and hard sense.

Monday Evening.

"An Evening of Song and Story," given Monday night by Mr. J. H. Balmer's wonderful Kaffir singing boys, was very largely attended, and whatever in the way of music that is to follow during this Chautauqua, nothing will be more popular, we venture to say, than the Kaffir boys, because of the unique entertainment they give and the instruction that accompanies it. There is a weirdness accompanying their exquisite music that seems to stay with you, and there is inspiration, too, in the music of these African boys that will serve to help many of us, who are rather boastful of our Christian civilization, to better ways of thought, speech and action.

Their interpretation of songs we are familiar with are splendid, and if we studied the meanings of words in our language as truly and faithfully as they, and used the knowledge we gained of them, we would be so busy there would be no time for idle, worthless talk.

They gave some Kaffir songs Monday night, and the eldest boy delivered a speech to the others, such as is given by the chiefs of the tribes to stir them to war with other tribes. It was an interesting sight to see and hear them respond, for the Kaffirs are emotional and there is as much to see as there is to hear in all they do when

LITTLE LELAND PALMER KICKED BY A HORSE.

IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

Returning Home When Horse Became Frightened—His Mother Was Also Hurt.

A bad accident occurred Tuesday morning about 7:30 o'clock at the farm of James Palmer, who lives nine miles northeast of Maryville. Mrs. Palmer and her three boys, Leland, Vern and Frank, were returning from the field, where the threshing was being carried on, and where they had gone to take Mr. Palmer to his work, when the harness to the buggy broke and frightened the horse.

The horse began kicking and kicked Mrs. Palmer just below one knee and badly crippled her. Another kick from the horse fractured the skull of the oldest child, Leland, who is only 4 years old. The other children were unhurt.

Dr. J. H. Todd and the Drs. Wallis were summoned. After attending to Mrs. Palmer's injuries they brought the little boy to St. Francis hospital in the Wallis car, where he was operated on. The child is in a very critical condition.

Evans, left Maryville at 10:30 o'clock Monday night on their proposed walking trip to San Francisco by the way of St. Joseph and Kansas City. They appeared at the Fern theater Monday evening and delivered short addresses on their proposed trip.

On Tuesday no word had been received by E. L. Andrews as to how far the boys had walked during the night.

RASCO CASE IS ON THE OCTOBER DOCKET

Attorney Ellis G. Cook, one of the attorneys for Hez Rasco, received word Tuesday from Assistant Attorney General Atkinson at Jefferson City that the Rasco case has been docketed for the October term of the supreme court. The attorneys for Rasco have been working very hard within the last few weeks, as the brief of their side of the case has to be ready by September 1.

Since the Rasco case is docketed for the October term, it is expected that the supreme court will not give a decision much before the first of the year.

CHARGED WITH ABANDONING HIS WIFE

Jess Holtclaw was arrested at Ravenwood Monday and was brought to Maryville by Sheriff Tilson and locked in the county jail on a charge of wife abandonment. No information was sworn out by Prosecutor Wright, as he has no jurisdiction, as Holtclaw abandoned his wife in St. Joseph. Mrs. Holtclaw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Slagle of Ravenwood, went to St. Joseph Tuesday to see the county prosecutor of that county in regard to swearing out an information against Holtclaw.

FOR FAST DRIVING

AUTOISTS WHO EXCEEDED SPEED LIMITS IN TOILS.

"Jay Driving" to Be made a Dangerous Pastime—Many Complaints Have Been Made.

As the result of some very reckless and fast driving Sunday evening by autoists in coming from the Chautauqua grounds, Harry Aldrich and Harold Staples were arrested Monday and appeared before City Police Judge W. L. Johnson Tuesday. Both Aldrich and Staples pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs, which was paid. Donald Robey, who was running O. K. Herndon's machine without lights, also appeared before Police Judge Johnson and was fined $5 and costs.

The city authorities are to be more strict hereafter in regard to the autoists exceeding the speed limit, and also as to "jay driving." A new ordinance is to be drawn soon by City Attorney Blagg and will probably come up at the council meeting either Friday night or at the first meeting night in September. The ordinance, it is said, is to be very strict on the autoists.

The action of the city authorities is taken at this time on account of the many complaints being made by the people of Maryville. There are only a few that seem to disregard the speed ordinance in the city, and it is thought that they will be more careful hereafter after being fined once.

Lyle Family Reunion.

August 13th, 1911, was the day of the annual reunion of the family of Hugh Lyle, who came to Nodaway county, Missouri, in the year 1849. He was a native of Ireland. He was born in Londonderry county, November 11, 1827, where he grew to manhood. In the year 1849 he was united in marriage to Nancy Hutchison of Macrefelt, Ireland. Shortly after their marriage they embarked to America, not having the steamship then as now, they made the voyage in a sailing vessel, and after seven weeks of rough sailing and some very trying circumstances, they landed in New York. On reaching America Mr. Lyle found employment very scarce, and after looking around for some time in search of employment he settled in Catasanqua, Pa., where he secured a position as furnace man in one of the large iron factories of that city, where he worked for three years, and in the year 1852, he, with his family, moved to Adams county, Illinois, where he engaged in farming and stock raising, where he lived until the year 1869, when he and his family came to Nodaway county, Missouri, where he bought a large tract of land, five miles east of Graham, which at that time consisted of only a few small houses. Their first summer in Missouri they lived in a tent until the completion of their beautiful home, which stood on a hill and could be seen for miles around, and was looked upon as one of the few beautiful homes of those days. Here he lived with his family of seven sons and one daughter until the death of his wife, in October, 1889. After breaking up his home he went to Washington, D. C., to live, where, in 1893, he was again married to Mrs. A. J. Rowland of that city, spending their winters in the east and their summers visiting his children in Missouri, and it was with the beginning of these visits that the family reunions were held each year. And as he and his wife have passed on to their reward, the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, of which there are eighty-one, meet once a year for their family reunion, which was held August 13th, at the old home place, now the home of a grandson, Samuel Lyle. A beautiful dinner was spread on the lawn and the day was spent in talking over pleasant memories of the old home and its many changes, after which some fine piano selections were listened to until late in the evening, when ice cream and cake were served, and bidding the host and hostess goodby, all returned to their homes with pleasant memories of the dear old home of their childhood. A photographer was on the ground and took several pictures of the group, which numbered sixty-six. Some of the grandchildren and also Robert Lyle's family were unable to be present. Those present were James Lyle and wife and daughter, Bessie; Humphrey Lyle and wife and son, Chester; Rankin Lyle and wife, Hutchison Lyle and wife and sons, Lloyd, Byers and Clifford; Alexander Lyle and wife and sons, Harold and William; Samuel Lyle and wife and son, Hugh, J.; William Miller and wife and daughters, Mary, Lotis and Lolita, and son, Vermile; Charles Carter and wife, Eugene Crawford and wife and sons, Lucine and Pearl, and daughter, Mary Amelia; Joseph Thompson and wife and daughters, Hazel and Marie, and son, John; Clarence Lyle and wife and son, William J.; Fred Lyle and wife and son, Richard; Frank Lyle and wife and son, Dale, and daughter Beulah; Fred Ayger and wife and daughter, Alice Marie; Joseph Robertson and wife and daughter, Thelma Fern; Otis Lyle and wife and son, Marvin; Otis McNeal and wife, Oren Miller and wife and sons, Elmer and William; Florence and Edna Robertson.

WELLER TAKES LIFE

COMMITTED SUICIDE SUNDAY AT HIS HOME, NEAR MAITLAND.

HAD BEEN IN ILL HEALTH

Was a Well-to-Do and Respected Farmer—Funeral Was Held Tuesday Afternoon.

Phillip Weller, a highly respected farmer, living three and a half miles southwest of Maitland, committed suicide Sunday morning about 6:30 o'clock by shooting himself with a revolver. The bullet entered back of the right ear and he died instantly.

Mr. Weller had been in ill health for several months and no cause can be given for his rash deed except on account of his health. He was a well-to-do farmer.

About 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning Mr. Weller went out to the barn and did his chores and returned to the house a short time after. He went to his room and the report of the gun was heard by his daughter, who went to him at once.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the Weller home and burial took place in the Maitland cemetery. He is survived by six children. He also leaves a brother, President Weller of one of the Maitland banks.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Ten big Republican counties cast a majority of 4,500 votes against rebuilding Missouri's capitol, while ten big Democratic counties cast a majority of 25,000 for rebuilding the capitol. It was ever thus.

Woodrow Wilson has declared that the greatest of the trusts is the money trust. We fear that Woodrow is correct. It is entirely evident that a plan is forming if it is not already fully formed, by which, if it is successful, a half dozen men will absolutely control the credit of this country. They will say what enterprises shall be financed and what shall be crushed. These men arrogate to themselves infallibility of judgment and assume the right to dictate to the business of the country. The only thing that stands between the successful consummation of the money trust is the probable election of a Democratic president next year.

The Democratic house has given the country a sample of what may be expected of a Democratic administration. Its achievements include a complete reformation of the house rules, Canadian reciprocity agreement, publicity of campaign funds before the election, election of United States senators by direct vote, the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as states, the farmers' free list bill, the wool bill reducing the advalorem on manufactured woolens from 90 to 42½ per cent, the cotton bill materially reducing the tax on all manufactured cotton goods. In addition to this the house has twelve probing committees at work unearthing the rascality of the departments under the Republican administration. Verily the session drawing to a close has been a Democratic triumph from beginning to end.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AT KENOSHA, WIS.

The following is from the Chicago Tribune:

The annual report of the Kenosha municipal water plant was filed with the city clerk yesterday. It shows a net profit to the city during the last twelve months of nearly $35,000.

The city has furnished water at a lower rate than is paid in any city as large as Kenosha in Wisconsin.

The plant was built in 1894 at a first cost of $137,000 and since that time extensions to the value of $16,150 have been made.

The money received from rentals has paid for all the extensions and during the last year the entire bonded indebtedness was paid off. The report shows a cash balance at this time of more than $35,000. The value of the plant is now placed at $300,000 and it will earn interest at 6 per cent on more than a million and a half.

in earnest. They also gave a short scene from a marriage ceremony that takes forty-eight hours to perform in that country.

"Swinging in the Grapevine Swing," a solo by the oldest boy, with chorus, was very popular. All the numbers were fine and their voices blend so sweetly that it is impossible to select their best piece.

The Hottentot, the little light colored boy that sings soprano, is the favorite. Every note he sounds is sweet, clear and liquid as a bird's. Monday night he sang high C with no more effort than a bird uses. The expression of his face changes with the sentiment of the song, from grave to gay, as sunlight and shadows come and go.

the throat and respiratory organs and the proper use of them. Jennie Lind's teacher could neither sing nor play a note.

The boys are born actors and the critics of London say they never saw the greatest actors make their entrance and exits with such grace as do these Kaffir boys. The soprano boy is wanted by artists in the Royal Gallery of London as subject for a great picture, because of his marvelous smile. There is no use trying to tell about the singing of these boys. It must be heard to be appreciated and understood. They will go to Red Oak, Ia., Wednesday.

...VED ELEVEN DAYS WITH HIS HEART CUT.

Autopsy Reveals Surprising Case of Victim of Stab Wound.

An autopsy on the body of Peter Paulsen, thirty years old, of New York, who, after a fight in which he received a deep gash in his breast, was removed to St. Vincent's hospital in an unconscious condition and who died in the hospital, revealed the astounding fact that the man had lived for eleven days with a knife wound in his heart fully an inch and a half deep.

Paulsen was a Dane of great physical strength. The wound was so large that Dr. E. S. Cockel of the hospital staff had great difficulty in checking the flow of blood. Gauze was finally shoved into the wound against the heart wall. This tended to check the flow. The outer wound, however, healed so rapidly that it had to be reopened several times to insert fresh gauze. In the meantime quantities of morphine were administered.

The patient did not begin to suffer until the last ten hours of his life, when, notwithstanding the greatest possible caution, blood poisoning set in. It was known that the wound was deep, but it was not surmised that the knife had entered the heart until physicians performed the autopsy.

DIED FOR A CAT.

Artist Rushed Into the Flames to Try to Save Her Pet.

Returning to a burning structure to try to rescue an Angora cat and three kittens, Miss Louise B. Frederici, thirty years old, an artist, lost her life in a fire which destroyed three houses in Los Angeles. The young woman was caught beneath a falling roof and incinerated. Another pet cat was responsible for saving eleven lives.

Mrs. Nellie S. Drane had lighted the heater in the kitchen. She returned to bed and fell asleep. She was awakened some time later by the actions of a pet cat, which had discovered the flames. The cat ran to her room and started to claw the clothing from her bed. This awakened Mrs. Drane, who, smelling smoke, rushed into the kitchen to find the rear of her home ablaze. She gave the alarm, and the other eleven occupants of the house, including Miss Frederici, barely escaped from the burning structure.

Miss Frederici after gaining the street remembered that her pet cat, which was nursing three kittens in a basket in her bedchamber, had been overlooked. Ignoring the protests of her friends, she dashed back through the smoke and flames. She had no sooner disappeared into the doomed structure than spectators were horrified to see the roof give way and crash to the first floor.

UNIQUE IDEA.

Pennsylvania Mine Code to Be Printed In Nine Languages.

A unique order for printing has just been given to the Pennsylvania state printer by A. Nevin Pomeroy, state superintendent of public printing, and it illustrates the diversity of population of Pennsylvania's mining regions.

In order that miners in every section of the great bituminous coal fields of the state may be made familiar with the provisions of the "soft coal code" passed by the recent legislature arrangement was made for the issuance of 100,000 copies of the act soon after it was approved.

When it came to looking up the manner of diffusing the information the state officials were confronted with the problem of reaching people speaking in the neighborhood of ten different tongues. A careful study of the conditions was made, and it was finally decided that the 100,000 copies should be divided between nine languages, the greater number being in English. The others will be Slavonian, Russian, Polish, Hungarian, German, Lithuanian, Swedish and Italian. Some of these languages will require additional type at the state printery.

NEW GUN.

War Department Has One Meant to Bring Down Aviators.

War department officials attached to the Watervleit, N. Y. arsenal have invented a gun they hope will eliminate the aeroplane as a great source of danger in war. The new weapon, which has an instantaneously rising sight, will shoot projectiles which in turn will break and scatter more, much after the manner of a bursting skyrocket. The space covered by the scattering projectiles from the new gun, however, will be far greater than that marked by the shooting points of light from a rocket.

The gun is entirely the work of the bureau of ordnance of the war department and is based on a series of secrets which, experts say, will prevent imitation of the weapon by any European nation. It is expected experiments will be held in the near future on Sandy Hook, when the inventors hope to prove that a moving aeroplane will be an easy target for the bullets from the new gun.

TO WIDELY ADVERTISE MISSOURI'S RESOURCES

In keeping with the "good roads movement," which now has possession of Missouri, is a plan of the bureau of labor statistics to widely advertise the wonderful resources, advantages and opportunities offered, separately, by each of the 114 counties of the state, to induce sturdy, thrifty and willing agricultural settlers and others, with or without means, now living elsewhere, but not prospering, to emigrate here.

Commissioner Austin W. Biggs, who is working in conjunction with the federal authority in the matter, in a bulletin issued today, announces that all information on the subject which has been gathered, will be set forth in pamphlet form before the close of the year. The bulletin says in part:

"In round numbers there are about 43,000,000 acres of land in Missouri, suitable for cultivation and grazing purposes. Of this amount 34,516,000 acres make up the 276,081 farms the state contained at the commencement of 1911, and of which 24,528,000 acres were improved. The Missouri farm averages 125 acres. The average price of land alone is $41.75 per acre, and of lands and buildings $49.56. But these figures do not apply to lands not taken up. They simply mean that tracts now unoccupied and purchasable for from $10 to $30 per acre will quickly reach that average value after improvement and the moment the new farm is ready for cultivation.

8,500,000 Acres Still.

"It is estimated that there are available for settlement in Missouri 8,500,000 acres suitable for cultivation or for grazing purposes in raising and fattening cattle, sheep and goats. In these latter calculations are included the rich swamp lands of southeast and other portions of Missouri, and the areas now subject to overflow, amounting to about 3,500,000 acres—all lands which can be easily and cheaply drained and protected by levees. This is thus planted, without considering what additional revenue could be derived if watermelons were added, or if the acreage was put into vegetables. Some of this land, now entirely unimproved, can be bought for $10 an acre and up, according to location and other features.

"North of the Missouri river good improved land can be purchased on easy terms for from $40 to $65, all highly fertile and good for wheat, corn, oats, blue grass and other high class staples. No other state has better lands than these, considering their richness, climatic conditions and proximity to large demanding and well paying markets, such as St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee, Kansas City and other smaller places.

Timber Would Pay Cost.

"In South Missouri improved lands can be acquired for from $20 to $50 per acre and unimproved for from $5 to $25. The latter tracts are generally covered with timber, which would nearly pay for them and the clearing, if cut and hauled to market. Oak, which is suitable for lumber and ties, abounds, and there is some yellow pine, with other species of trees here and there.

"Some tracts of the improved land, a small house, all agricultural implements, seed, etc., can be rented on the usual terms, generally half of the yield of everything going to the owner. In other sections the exactments for rent differ, being either more or less, according to the location of the farm and its annual productiveness.

"About 200,000 forty-acre farms could be easily cut out of the unimproved lands which are still available in Missouri, and yet leave 500,000 acres. If this was done there would still be the 10,000,000 acres, now unimproved, but forming parts of Missouri's present 276,081 farms, all of which is being used for grazing purposes. There are now in the state 66,417 farms with less than fifty acres each, all on a paying basis, yet very few, if any, of this vast number being conducted on either an intense scale or by scientific methods. Then there are 74,000 farms ranging in size from fifty to ninety-nine acres; 79,871 farms, 100 to 174 acres; 51,829 farms, 175 to 499 acres; 3,421 farms, 500 to 999 acres, and 542 farms with 1,000 acres each and over. There is but little land left in Missouri for homestead or cash entry.

W. J. BRYAN WILL NOT REMAIN SILENT

Columbus, O., Aug. 14.—"I intend to devote all my time between now and the nomination to finding out things about the candidates for the Democratic nomination for president," said William J. Bryan to a large audience here today. "I know all of the leading men of the party, those who have hindered and those who have helped it. When the time comes to name the man for candidate, I will not be silent.

"I am not going to mention individuals now," said Mr. Bryan. "The country has man available men. Recently I mentioned some of the men I believe to be good as political candidates, and I am glad Democracy is so fortunate as to have so many."

Mr. Bryan was the guest of the Jefferson club at a big rally and barbecue. Governor Harmon had been invited, but he sent word weeks ago that he would be at his summer home in Michigan on a vacation. Mr. Bryan refrained from mentioning the governor in any of his interviews or in his speech. It was recalled that the men whom Mr. Bryan mentioned some time ago did not include Governor Harmon.

"I intend to devote my time to driving plutocracy from the throne and putting the rights of men in the seat," continued Mr. Bryan. "I have not a friend in the United States whom I would reward at the expense of my party or my country."

MAY PUNISH LYNCHERS

Great Indignation at Coatesville Over Burning of Negro.

Coatsville, Pa., Aug. 15.—The fearful work of a frenzied mob here, when it dragged a wounded negro from a hospital and burned him to death for the killing of Edgar Rice, a policeman, has aroused the greatest indignation in this community and everything possible will be done to bring to justice the ringleaders of the mob. That such an affair could occur in a Quaker community like that in Chester county was not believed possible.

Thousands of persons journeyed out to the scene of the burning. The distance to the Newland farm, where the lynching occurred, is short, and a steady stream of curious people kept moving out to the scene.

Nothing is left of Ezekiel Walker, the victim, but his ashes, all unburned portions of the hospital cot that formed part of his pyre had been gathered up by souvenir hunters.

LIMITS WEDDING FINERY

Miss Force Will Practice Economy Buying Her Trousseau.

New York, Aug. 15.—It became the opinion of some Fifth avenue modistes that Miss Madeline Force, the young fiancee of Colonel John Jacob Astor, is to be very economical in the arrangement of her wedding trousseau. It was learned on the avenue that she and Colonel Astor drove in a taxicab to five shops where the young woman made it plain that $1,000 would be the limit of expenditure for her wedding finery.

In contrast to the $20,000 which a recent society girl is said to have spent on her trousseau, including $2,500 for a single gown, it was said that Miss Force objected to a $250 creation which one modiste showed her and found one at a shop further on which pleased her just as well for $100.

Missing Receptacle of Jewelry Found at Nebraska City.

DUMPED ON SCHOOL GROUNDS

Thief Evidently Frightened and Did Not Come Back—Indications It Has Not Been Opened—Detectives Seal It and Send It to Omaha.

Nebraska City, Aug. 15.—The trunk filled with jewelry worth $10,000, property of A. F. Smith company of Omaha, which was checked from Omaha to Nebraska City, July 31, by Will Kortland, the company's salesman, and which seemed to have disappeared completely, was found here. Ever since the night of its delivery here it has lain in the open on the new high school grounds, where it was discovered and examined by a workman whose curiosity was aroused by noticing a baggage check upon it.

The trunk was sealed and sent to Omaha. Indications are it has not been opened.

Monday, July 31, Will Kortland, traveling salesman for the wholesale jewelry firm of A. F. Smith company of Omaha, checked two valuable trunks filled with jewelry from that place to this city and when he called for the trunks at the depot one containing jewelry valued at $10,000 was missing.

He waited here several days and the case was given to the officers, but they could not trace the trunk out of Omaha.

Fred Brooks, an electrician working about the new high school building, noticed a big trunk near his pile of material and while waiting for something examined it, although he had noticed it there for weeks, but thought it belonged to the contractors. He noticed the check still on it and called up the agent for the railroad, giving the number, and was told it was the missing trunk.

It was taken in charge by two Pinkerton men who were here working on the case.

The trunk does not show that it has been opened and the ground where it lay shows it was thrown off a wagon and laid just out of the path used by the workmen, but in plain view of all since it was brought here.

That it was stolen from the depot is clearly evident and it is thought the thieves became frightened and left it where they dumped it.

The trunk was within a block of the hotel where Kortland stayed and where a large force of men employed on the high school passed it every day.

ROW AMONG SOCIALISTS

J. Mahlon Barnes, Secretary of the National Party, Resigns.

Milwaukee, Aug. 15.—J. Mahlon Barnes, secretary of the national Socialist party, has resigned. It is said the resignation will be accepted.

Angry words, denunciations and brandishing fists marked the close of the forenoon session of the Socialist conference at Brisbane hall, when Senator Gaylord of Milwaukee and G. W. Boswell, a Socialist alderman of Maplewood, Mo., accused Gaylord and Congressman Berger of disrupting the party in Missouri. Senator Gaylord has been giving a series of lectures in St. Louis.

"I have your record," retorted Gaylord. "I am not going to have you arrested or serve an injunction on you, but I have your record."

Boswell said it was poor politics and poor judgment to start afresh the argument at this time inasmuch as the next national convention was but a year away.

M'CABE PLACES RESTRICTION

Washington, Aug. 15.—Restrictions placed on officials of the bureau of chemistry by Solicitor McCabe on their talking with United States district attorneys has greatly hampered work in district laboratories, where attorneys prosecuting pure food cases often seek expert advice, according to Dr. W. D. Bigelow, assistant chief of the bureau, who again appeared as a witness before the house committee investigating charges against Dr. Wiley.

Dr. Bigelow said Mr. McCabe had made it clear that bureau officials were not to talk with district attorneys without his express consent.

Missouri State Fair.

The eleventh annual exhibition of the Missouri state fail will be held on the state fair grounds at Sedalia, September 30 to October 6. The members of the state board of agriculture are the directors of the state fair, and they have made an extra effort this year to surpass all former years in the way of exhibits and entertainment.

The live stock industry of Missouri has made a wonderful growth since the state fair was established. The reports from the 1910 United States census show that the value of horses and colts in 1900 was $42,095,000, while in 1910 the value was $113,708,000, showing an increase of over 170 per cent. For mules in 1900, $15,482,000 and in 1910, $43,363,000, showing an increase in value of 180 per cent. The value of swine in 1900 was $3,351,000 and in 1910, $31,879,000. The value of sheep in Missouri in 1900 was $3,351,000, and in 1910, $7,875,000, showing an increase of over 135 per cent.

A reasonable supposition is that the Missouri state fair has had much influence in the development of the live stock industry during the last ten years, for it is at the state fair where the best herds in the country are shown, and it is there the farmer and breeder gets his inspiration to breed better live stock. The state fair is an educational institution that reaches people who are past school age as well as the young folks.

One World at a Time.

Comes now a learned one with this gentle reminder: "Conditions here and on the planets are so different that if a 140-pound man from our earth would jump to Jupiter he would weigh ten tons." Well, ten tons would be some weight for dog days, making dancing, aeroplaning, etc., rather dangerous, but who is figuring on jumping to Jupiter this kind of weather?—Terre Haute Star.

This school is better able to take care of its rapidly increasing patronage the coming year than ever before. Nearly a thousand students have attended during the last five years, and we refer to them. Our next term begins Tuesday, Sept. 5. Prospective students are invited to call before that date if convenient and arrange for the course they wish to pursue. Our building is heated by hot water and we have stoves for emergencies. Ten months in this school will fit the average boy or girl for a good position, a right start, a prosperous life and a successful career. Why take more time?

MILD, GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN GIVEN FREE

So many of the ills of women are due to habitual constipation, probably because of their false modesty on the subject, that their attention cannot be too strongly called to the importance of keeping the bowels open. It is always important to do that, regardless of the sex, but it is especially important in women.

From the time the girl begins to menstruate until mentsruation ceases she has always vastly better prospects of coming through healthy if she watches her bowel movements. If you find yourself constipated, with bad breath, pimply complexion, headaches, belching gas and other symptoms of indigestion and constipation, take a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is woman's favorite laxative. You will find that you can do away with salts, strong cathartics, etc., which are entirely unsuited to woman's requirements.

Mrs. Katherine Haberstroh of McKees Rocks, Pa., and Mrs. A. E. Herrick of Wheeler, Mich., who was almost paralyzed in her stomach and bowels, are now cured by the use of this remedy. A free sample bottle can be obtained by addressing Dr. Caldwell, and after you are convinced of its merits buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Stop That Dandruff

Before it kills your hair. You know dandruff is a germ disease and it leads slowly and surely to baldness, and there is only one way to cure dandruff and that is to kill the germ that causes the trouble.

Greasy salves will never do this. Zemo and Zemo Soap kills the germ and are guaranteed to cure dandruff, itching scalp and all other germ diseases of the skin and scalp.

Zemo and Zemo Soap are the true scientific remedies for these afflictions. To show our faith in Zemo and Zemo Soap we have instructed the druggist selling them to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the results from the very first bottle and the first cake of soap.

We can afford to make this offer because one bottle of Zemo and one cake of soap are sufficient to show their healing qualities, and if used according to directions they will effect a permanent cure.

Mr. Lieber is the proprietor of a large jobbing and book binding establishment, which employs fifty people. He located in Oklahoma City when the place was not so large as Maryville, and has witnessed its marvelous growth in the past ten years. He is naturally very proud of his home city. A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

ATWOOD FLIES TO CHICAGO

Aviator Makes Dramatic Entrance Into Big City.

FROM ST. LOUIS TO NEW YORK

Travels 286 Miles in Actual Flying Time of Five Hours, Forty-Three Minutes in First Leg of Big Air Trip—Hopes to Break Record.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—By flying the 286 miles from St. Louis to Chicago with only two intermediate stops and in an actual flying time of five hours and forty-three minutes, Harry N. Atwood of Boston believes he has set a pace which will result in his establishing a new record on his flight by aeroplane from St. Louis to New York and Boston.

Atwood, in a Burgess-Wright biplane, left St. Louis at 8:05 o'clock. He landed in Chicago at 6:10 o'clock. His total time between St. Louis and Chicago, counting the delays occasioned by the two stops, was ten hours and fourteen minutes, but his actual time in the air, computed by deducting the delays, was five hours and forty-three minutes. This, Atwood asserts, is three hours and twelve minutes less than the scheduled time of express trains for the same distance.

His descent into Chicago was thrilling. Sailing in from the southwest, a lone spec in the clouds, he made direct for the downtown district, and for a time hovered unnoticed in the distance over the skyscrapers.

Thousands of people were crowded at the lake front intent upon the flights of the aeroplanes competing in the aviation contests. Atwood appeared on the scene as a stranger, unheralded and expected only by a few.

Suddenly the crowd noticed the oncoming stranger and a voice shouted "that's Atwood from St. Louis."

Immediately the vast assembly was in an uproar. Two airmen sailed out to meet Atwood.

Coming steadily onward the aviator steered over the aviation field and circled around it while several of the machines listed in the meet followed as an escort. Once around Atwood descended gracefully, touching the ground for the first time since his stop at Pontiac, Ill., ninety-one miles from Chicago.

Originally setting ten days as the minimum time for completing the 1,460 miles to Boston, Atwood believes by the pace he set he will be able to materially reduce that estimate.

Atwood resumed his journey eastward today, taking a course along the Lake Shore railroad.

BIRDMEN FLIRT WITH DEATH

Two Aeroplanes Lost in Lake Michigan and Another Burned.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—A series of accidents, any of which might have easily proven fatal, kept the audience at the third day of the international aviation meet here on tiptoe of excitement all the afternoon. Two machines swooped into Lake Michigan, whence their drivers, Rene Simon and Lee Hammond, were rescued by motorboats, calm and collected, but mourning the loss of their machines.

J. A. D. McCurdy, flying near the ground, approached too near the club house of the Chicago Yacht club. The planes of his car struck a number of high voltage electric wires running to the club house and in a minute the canvas and oil-covered wood of the planes were on fire. McCurdy leaped out and reached the ground uninjured. The plane fell a few feet farther, but too late for the fire to be extinguished and the aeroplane was consumed.

HOUSE PASSES WOOL REPORT

All Democrats and 29 Republicans Vote for It.

SENATE WILL ACT AT ONCE.

President Taft Probably Will Refuse to Approve Measure—Speaker Clark Overrules Mann's Point of Order That Conferees Exceeded Authority.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The conference report on the wool tariff revision bill carrying a flat duty of 29 per cent on raw wools and corresponding reduced rates on wool manufacturers was adopted by the house, 206 to 90. The senate is expected to agree to it today, thus putting the measure up to the president's expected veto.

Twenty-nine Republican representatives and one independent Republican voted for the bill. No Democrat voted against it.

The house action was officially reported to the senate immediately.

When the report was made Republican Leader Mann at once made a point of order that the report could not be considered because the conferees had exceeded their authority by fixing tariff rates on certain manufactures of wool higher than the same rates were made in either the house or senate bill.

Speaker Clark overruled Mr. Mann's point of order that the conferees had exceeded their authority.

Democratic Leader Underwood of the house, in expressing the opinion that final adjournment will not come before next week, said that he does not expect congress to stay after the pending bills have been disposed of "unless the senate determines to stay and act on the cotton bill." That bill, which makes an average cut of 21 per cent in cotton duties, was debated without action in the senate. It already has passed the house.

SENATE PASSES MONEY BILL

It Also Begins Debate of the Cotton Tariff Bill.

Washington, Aug. 15.—A bill providing for the final report and dissolution of the national monetary commission by Jan. 8 next, was passed by the senate, 56 to 6.

A discussion of the cotton tariff bill began in the senate. Senator Cummins advocated amending the bill by providing for revision of the iron and steel tariff schedules. The reduction in duties on metal products called for in his amendment are the same as those he offered two years ago to the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill.

When Senator Fletcher of Florida had read into the record an editorial attacking the protective policy, Senator Smith of Michigan called attention to a letter from a North Carolina cotton manufacturer, who declared there would have been no cotton mills in the south had it not been for protection.

VETO MESSAGE IS POSTPONED

Statehood Bill Will Not Be Returned to Congress Until Wednesday.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Taft's veto message on the statehood bill will be sent to congress tomorrow. A decision to this effect was reached during a special cabinet meeting. The message probably will remain at the White House until the president's return from Ocean Grove, N. J., tomorrow.

President Taft has refused to grant further executive clemency to Raymond P. May, former business manager of a Kansas City newspaper who was convicted of using the mails to defraud in the sale of mining stock.

The president recently commuted May's original sentence of one year to six months. The president also denied clemency to S. H. Snider, who was convicted with May in the same case and was sentenced to one year.

Wealthy Iowan Drops From Sight.

Harlan, Ia., Aug. 15.—Frank Hann, a wealthy farmer and stock raiser of Douglas township, mysteriously disappeared while riding to his home five miles north of this city in an automobile. His son was driving the car, his wife was in the front seat and he was in the back seat alone. They left Harlan after chautauqua and when they reached the Pickard hill, three miles north of here, Mrs. Hann turned around to speak to her husband and he was not there at all. The car had not been stopped and they could not imagine where he had gone to. A number of neighbors searched the road with no avail.

Sleeping Girl Steps Off Moving Train.

Norfolk, Neb., Aug. 15.—Miss Meta Wiedman, aged twenty years, went to sleep on an incoming Union Pacific passenger train and walking through the coach leaped from the car while the train was entering Norfolk. Her unconscious form was found in the darkness. She is severely cut and bruised and her wrist is broken.

Mountain Slide Threatens Town.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 15.—The fissures on Turtle mountain are widening, and should mining continue on the mountain they will endanger the lives of the people in the town of Frank, situated at the foot.
